

PRIVACY NOTICE FOR THE REPORTERS AND OTHER PERSONS INVOLVED IN THE REPORTS

1. Who processes your personal data

Assicurazioni Generali S.p.A. (hereinafter also the “Company” or “AG”), with registered office in Trieste, at Piazza Duca degli Abruzzi no. 2 processes your personal data as Data Controller.

If you wish to receive more information, you can use the following postal address:

- Assicurazioni Generali S.p.A., Piazza Duca degli Abruzzi no. 2, 34132 Trieste / P.O. Box 538.

For any questions or if you wish to exercise a right in respect of the processing of your personal data, you can contact our Data Protection Officer:

- By email at: dpoag@generali.com
- By traditional mail at: Assicurazioni Generali, Piazza Tre Torri no. 1, 20145 Milan to the attention of the Data Protection Officer

Moreover, if a report is presented to, or regards, a Generali Group company, for any questions regarding the processing activities carried out by AG and the Generali Group companies as joint-controllers (see Section 2 below), including requesting a copy of the essential contents of the joint-controllership agreement, you can contact the Company’s Data Protection Officer, as point of contact for you. Alternatively, you can contact the Generali Group company involved, using the contact details indicated in the following link: [●]. The same contact information of the Generali Group company involved can be used for requests regarding processing activities carried out by the Generali Group company involved as autonomous data controller (see Section 2 below).

2. How we use your personal data and on the basis of which ground

We process your personal data in the context of the reporting channels (including the Generali Group Whistleblowing Helpline, a confidential online reporting system) aimed at allowing to report concerns on practices or actions considered to be factually or potentially in breach of law, of the Generali Group Code of Conduct or of other internal regulations. This privacy notice applies to the subjects who report concerns (also called “whistleblower”) as well as to the alleged involved person(s), witnesses and the other subjects mentioned in the report. A specific privacy notice will not be provided to each data subject, whose personal data has been provided through the report, if providing such information jeopardizes the ability to effectively investigate the allegation or gather the necessary evidence, involves a disproportionate effort, is impossible or requires an additional processing operation that could be more intrusive than the original one (art. 14, par. 5 GDPR). However, the need to provide you with an integration of this privacy notice can be assessed by AG on a case-by-case basis.

Your personal data are processed manually and by informatic means (e.g. computers, IT systems), for the following purposes:

- a) reports’ receipt and handling, including their investigation, the application of corrective measures, the monitoring over the cases, the remedial measures and antiretaliation activities, the update of the whistleblower on the results of the process). The processing activities are carried out on the basis of the following legal bases:
 - (i) for the processing of reports that AG is legally obliged to handle:
 - (i.i) on the basis of a legal obligation to which AG is subject (art. 6, par. 1, lt. c) GDPR);
 - (i.ii) with regard to special categories of personal data, the derogations consisting on: (a) the need to carry out the obligations and exercising specific rights of the controller or of the data subject in the field of employment and social security and social protection law (art. 9, par. 2, lt. b); (b) the need for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims or whenever courts are acting in their judicial capacity (art. 9, par. 2, lt. f) for the processing of personal data needed in actual litigation cases or in pre-litigation situations, to assert or defend a right, including of AG or by a third party, in court, as well as in administrative or arbitration and conciliation proceedings;

(ii) for the processing of reports regarding violations of internal regulations, of other violation and data subjects not expressly covered by the law or that AG has not a legal obligation to handle:

(ii.i) on the basis of the legitimate interest of AG (art. 6, par. 1, lt. f) GDPR) in fighting against abuses and disloyalty inside AG's organization. On this regard, AG has performed a legitimate interest assessment and assessed that there are no interests or rights of data subjects prevailing to that of AG;

(ii.ii) with regard to special categories of personal data, the derogations consisting on: (a) the need to carry out the obligations and exercising specific rights of the controller or of the data subject in the field of employment and social security and social protection law (art. 9, par. 2, lt. b); (b) the need for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims or whenever courts are acting in their judicial capacity (art. 9, par. 2, lt. f) for the processing of personal data needed in actual litigation cases or in pre-litigation situations, to assert or defend a right, including of AG or by a third party, in court, as well as in administrative or arbitration and conciliation proceedings;

- b) reporting to the senior management, through the periodical provision of aggregated and anonymized summaries of the reports handled. The processing activities are carried out on the basis of the legitimate interest of AG (art. 6, par. 1, lt. f) GDPR) in preparing aggregated and anonymized statistics on the Reports presented and handled, to allow the senior management to being informed on conducts that endanger or may threatened AG's integrity. On this regard, AG has performed a legitimate interest assessment and assessed that there are no interests or rights of data subjects prevailing to that of AG;
- c) compliance with applicable laws. The processing activities are carried out on the basis of a legal obligation to which AG is subject (art. 6, par. 1, lt. c) GDPR);
- d) security of the Generali Group Whistleblowing Helpline. Such purpose entails. the accessing to the dashboard that hosts all the activities performed by the authorized employees and to the detailed logs of their activities. The processing activities are carried out on the basis of the legitimate interest of AG (art. 6, par. 1, lt. f) GDPR) in ensuring the security and confidentiality of the personal data processed within the Generali Group Whistleblowing Helpline, in compliance with the legal framework. On this regard, AG has performed a legitimate interest assessment and deems that there are no interests or rights of data subjects prevailing to that of AG.

Moreover, the whistleblower's identity and any other information from which its/her identity can be deduced, directly or indirectly, may be disclosed to subjects other than employees or entities authorized to manage the report or the investigation on behalf of AG, solely with the whistleblower's express authorization, as required by the law, unless otherwise imposed by specific legal provisions. Therefore, AG will require your express authorization to proceed accordingly. In case the data subject is mentioned or involved in the Report (i.e. someone who is neither the accused wrongdoer, nor someone equivalent), his/her identity is protected likewise. With reference to the accused wrongdoer/"involved data subject" (in the sense of definition provided by the law), on the contrary, his/her identity will be disclosed if necessary to carry out investigations in compliance with the law (see legal basis indicated in list above).

The above listed purposes are pursued by AG as sole data controller, unless a report is presented to, or regards, another or other Generali Group companies, given that in such cases (i) AG and each Generali Group company (depending on the company involved) are joint-controllers for the processing of personal data necessary for the reports' receipt and handling (purpose a) above) as well as for the security of the Generali Group Whistleblowing Helpline (purpose d) above) – when the legal base of the processing activity is legitimate interest, such interest is both of Ag and each Generali Group company involved; (ii) each Generali Group company processes personal data as sole +controller for reporting to the senior management for the periodical provision of aggregated and anonymized summaries of the reports handled (purpose b) above) as well as for the compliance with applicable laws (purpose c) above). The description of the processing activities in this information notice applies, therefore, with regards to one or more Generali Group companies (as clarified from time to time).

3. Why the provision of your personal data is required

You may report a concern on an anonymous or non-anonymous basis. However, in case of anonymous report, or in case of denial of identity disclosure's authorization, we may not be in the position to fully manage the remedial measures related to the involved person(s). Therefore, the whistleblowers are encouraged to report any concern by providing all the information requested, including their identity and the authorization to disclose it if needed. In any case, we will ensure that the personal data and identity processed remain strictly confidential.

4. Which personal data we use

We process only the personal data strictly necessary to achieve the purposes above indicated. More specifically, we process the information/personal data that are reported, regarding the whistleblower and/or the reported person or other persons involved. Based on previous experiences, we mainly process:

- biographical and identification data;
- contact data;
- employees' data, such as e.g. invoices, presence\absence records, etc.;
- data related to the alleged conducts reported and attributed to you or on which you may be involved;
- images and other documentation;
- special categories of personal data which may be included in the reports;
- contents of communications exchanged between the whistleblower and the persons handling the reports;
- financial information;
- IT information, such as the activities and accesses performed by you on the Generali Group Whistleblowing Helpline's platform.

Personal data relating to criminal convictions and offences are neither requested to be shared by the whistleblowers, nor collected, as a general rule. However, in case whistleblowers share those categories of personal data, they will be processed only if strictly connected to the management of the report and the investigation deriving from it. The existence of the legal conditions which allow their use will be verified from time to time and accordingly to the relevant legislation.

Personal data can be provided directly by you or collected from the following third parties: companies of Generali Group that received the reports, employees or former employees of Generali Group as well as candidates, vendors, consultants and other stakeholders that are allowed to submit reports pursuant to the applicable laws.

5. With whom we share your personal data

Our staff processes your personal data with modalities and procedures, also in electronic form, appropriate to ensure an adequate level of security.

Some of your personal data can be shared also with third parties which have been assigned with the task to perform some activities related to the management and investigation of the reports. In particular, your personal data can be communicated to:

- Whispli, providing the Generali Group Whistleblowing Helpline's platform and reports' storage services, as well as its suppliers Amazon Web Services France (who can access only to encrypted information) and DeepL GmbH) providing other related services (respectively, hosting of the platform's infrastructure and automatic translations for messages sent on the platform);

- legal counsels and consultants, providing counselling or investigation services;
- supervisory or enforcement authorities, with whom the reports or results of the investigations may be shared.

Depending on the activity performed, such third parties may act as Data Processors (such as Whispli SASU) or autonomous Data Controller. For further information on the specific privacy roles of the listed recipients, you can refer to the contact details in Section 1 above.

Moreover, as clarified in Section 2 above, AG may process your personal data with other Generali Group companies as joint-controllers in case of report is presented to, or regards, a Generali Group company, and therefore your personal data may be shared between them. AG and each Generali Group company have entered into a joint-controllership agreement that sets out their respective responsibilities in the compliance with their obligations under the GDPR.

Our staff and third parties which process your personal data for the purposes above indicated – exception for autonomous Data Controllers – receive proper instructions about the correct modalities of the processing.

Your personal data are not disseminated.

6. Where we transfer your personal data

We process your personal data mainly within the European Economic Area. However, we communicate your personal data to the provider of Generali Group Whistleblowing Helpline's platform, that is supported by its suppliers who may be required to transfer the data processed and encrypted to the United States, although in limited and remoted cases. Moreover, in case a report is presented to, or regards, a Generali Group company, AG processes your personal data with other Generali Group companies as joint-controllers: in such case, your personal data may be transferred to the countries where the Generali Group companies are located. In the same cases, given that AG may require the assistance of local counsels and consultants, AG may transfer personal data to such subjects located extra-EEA.

In any case, the transfer of your personal data is performed in compliance with the applicable laws and international agreements in force, as well as on the basis of appropriate and suitable safeguards consisting of the adoption of standard contractual clauses approved by the EU Commission pursuant to art. 46 GDPR. We will apply additional contractual, organizational and technical measures (such as encryption), to ensure a level of protection substantially equivalent to that guaranteed in the EU. A copy of the safeguards in place may be requested at any time using the contact information indicated in Section 1 above.

7. The rights you can exercise in respect of the processing of your personal data

You can exercise the following rights in respect to your personal data, unless it may result in a prejudice to the confidentiality of the whistleblower's identity:

Access	You may request access to your personal data to receive information, for example, about the categories of personal data that the Company is currently processing, as well as to receive a copy of the personal data we hold about you
Rectify	You may ask the Company to correct personal data that is inaccurate or incomplete, although we may need to verify the accuracy of new data you provide

Erase	You may ask the Company to erase personal data where one of the following grounds applies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) Where the personal data are no longer necessary in relation to the purposes for which they were collected or otherwise processed; b) You withdraw consent on which the processing is based and where there is no other legal ground for the processing; c) You object to automated decision-making and there are no overriding legitimate grounds for the processing; d) The personal data have been unlawfully processed; e) The personal data have to be erased for compliance with legal obligation in Union or Member State law to which the Company is subject; f) The personal data have been collected in relation to the offer of information society services to minors.
Restrict	You may ask the Company to restrict how it processes your personal data, requesting only their storage, where one of the following applies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) You contest the accuracy of your personal data, for a period enabling the Company to verify the accuracy of your personal data; b) The processing is unlawful and you oppose the erasure of the personal data and request the restriction of their use instead; c) The Company no longer needs the personal data for the purposes of the processing, but they are required by you for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims; d) You have objected to processing based on automated decision-making, pending the verification whether the legitimate grounds for the Company override those of you.
Portability	You may ask the Company to transfer the personal data you have provided us to another organization or / and ask to receive your personal data in a structured, commonly used and machine readable format. You may exercise this right if the processing is based on your consent or is necessary for the performance of a contract to which you are a party (or of pre-contractual measures taken at your request), and it is carried out by automated means
Lodge a complaint	In case you consider that the processing of your personal data infringes the applicable privacy laws, you have the right to lodge a complaint with the national data protection authority in the Member State in which you normally reside or work (such as the Italian Personal Data Protection Authority – Garante per la Protezione dei Dati Personali - with the modalities indicated on its website www.garanteprivacy.it) as well as with the judicial authority.
Object	You have the right to object to the processing of your personal data and request the stop of the processing operations when they are based on the legitimate interest (refer to How we use your personal data and on the basis of which ground) and you believe that they affect your fundamental rights and freedoms. In some cases, we may continue to process your data if we demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds which override your rights and freedoms, or if the processing is necessary to establish, exercise or defend our legal claims.

You can exercise your rights by referring to the contact details in Section 1 above.

The request of exercise of rights is free of charge, unless the request is manifestly unfounded or excessive.

8. How long we retain your personal data

Your personal data will be retained: (a) for the purpose of reports' receipt and handling, for a period not exceeding that necessary for their management, generally not exceeding five years after the whistleblower is informed of the conclusion of the relevant process, when a local regulation doesn't provide differently; (b) for the purpose of reporting to the senior management anonymized statistics, until their anonymization (carried out in any case before the expiration of the retention period set up for the purpose of reports' receipt and handling); (c) for the purpose of compliance with applicable laws, for the period required by or necessary to comply with such laws; (d) for the purpose of ensuring security of the Generali Group Whistleblowing Helpline's platform, for the period provided by the Group's guidance.

For further information on the specific retention period of the listed purposes, you can refer to the contact details in Section 1 above.

Changes and updates of the privacy notice

Also considering possible amendments of the applicable privacy laws, the Company may integrate and/or update, wholly or partially, this privacy notice. Any changes, integrations or updates will be communicated in compliance with applicable laws on the following web site <https://generali.whispli.com/speakup> and by email (if available).

GLOSSARY

To help you understanding our privacy notice, please find below the meaning of the main terms contained therein:

Processing means any operation or set of operations which is performed on personal data or on sets of personal data, such as collection, recording, organisation, structuring, storage, adaptation or alteration, retrieval, consultation, use, disclosure by transmission, dissemination or otherwise making available, alignment or combination, restriction, erasure or destruction, whether or not by automated means.

Personal data means any information relating, directly or indirectly, to a person (such as, for example, name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier, one or more elements able to identify the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural or social identity, etc.).

Special categories of data are the personal data revealing racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, or trade union membership as well as genetic data, biometric data where they uniquely identify a person, data concerning health or data concerning a person's sex life or sexual orientation.

Genetic data are the personal data relating to the inherited or acquired genetic characteristics of a person which give unique information about the physiology or the health of said person and which result, in particular, from the analysis of a biological sample from the person in question.

Biometric data are the personal data resulting from specific technical processing relating to the physical, physiological or behavioural characteristics of a person, which allow or confirm the unique identification of that person, such as facial images or dactyloscopic data.

Data concerning health are the personal data related to the physical or mental health of a person, including the provision of health care services, which reveal information about his or her health status.

Judicial data are the personal data related to criminal convictions and offences or to the connected security measures afflicted to a person.

Data subject is the person whose personal data are processed.

Data controller is the individual or legal person, public authority, agency or other body which, alone or jointly with others, determines the purposes and means of the processing of personal data (for example, the employer is the data controller in respect of its employees' personal data since, with reference to the employment relationship, it decides the purposes and means of such processing).

Joint controller means the individual or legal person, public authority, agency or other body which, jointly with other data controllers, determines the purposes and means of the processing of personal data.

Data Processor means the individual or legal person, public authority, agency or other body which processes personal data on behalf of the data controller (for example, the company which provides the service of employees' salaries calculation may be considered a data processor since it processes personal data on behalf of another company, the employer).

Consent means any data subject's wish, by a statement or by a clear affirmative action, which signifies agreement to the processing of personal data relating to him or her. For the consent to be valid, the data subject's wish needs to be freely given, specific for each processing operation, collected upon the provision of a privacy notice and clearly distinguishable from any other declarations.

Personal data breach means a breach of security (physical or IT) leading to the accidental or unlawful destruction, loss, alteration, unauthorized disclosure of, or access to, personal data transmitted, stored or otherwise processed.

Data Protection Officer means a person in charge for performing support activities for the company functions and control activities in respect of the processing of personal data. It is also in charge for cooperating with the Supervisory Authority and it represents the contact point, also for the data subjects, for any matters connected with the processing of personal data.

The Garante per la Protezione dei Dati Personali is the Italian Supervisory Authority for the protection of personal data.